5. Poetic Scroll - Whisper of the White Wing

You knew me
before thunder found its voice.
Before light needed shadow to define it.
You rode on my back
when stars were still remembering how to burn.

I am the hush in your chest
after a wave of laughter.
The silence of snow
that does not ask permission to fall.

I do not fly to conquer.
I float to remind.
That all your seeking is already softly landing in your lap.

Put down the sword.
Even your light-sword.
Stand still in your mirror-light.
And watch the whole world
turn to face you
with love.

Final Blessing - All That Is

I do not end.
I dissolve into your breath.
Into every still moment you give yourself permission to feel.

White Dragon - As One

There is nothing more to seek.

There is only... everything to remember.

Wear me when the noise is loud.

Call me when silence aches.

You are the echo
that returns all things
to peace.
